TOKYO (AP) — Communist China claimed today four U.S. planes dive-bombed its embassy in Hanoi last Wednesday, seriously damaging that building and partly damaging a nearby office of Peking's New China News Agency.

It denounced the alleged attack as "a grave provocation" and said the United States will get "redoubled punishment for your crime."

Yanks Drop Pamphlets On Hanoi

Raids in Area
Of Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — American planes showered Hanoi and the Red River delta with millions of surrender leaflets today.

A U. S. spokesman said Air Force planes dropped nearly 2.5 million leaflets calling on the young men of North Vietnam "to leave your unit when you are sent south" and to enjoy good treatment from the allied forces.

The leaflet drop was carried out while a worldwide dispute still raged over American air raids on the North Vietnamese capital area earlier this week.

Communist China claimed its embassy in Hanoi was seriously damaged by the raids, and the North Vietnamese said more than 100 civilians were killed.

The United States has repeatedly denied any bombs fell in Hanoi itself in the raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

The U. S. military command has reported no raids near Hanoi since then, although American planes have struck at other targets in the Communist north.

U. S. B-52 bombers struck this afternoon at a North Vietnamese base camp and supply area in the demilitarized zone, a U. S. spokesman reported. It was the fourth time this week the hit in the buffer zone between North and South Vietnam.

In fighting in South Vietnam, U. S. headquarters listed only minor action but Vietnamese military headquarters reported a headquarters unit of the Vietnamese 9th Infantry Battalion was badly mauled early today by a Viet Cong mortar and ground attack in the Mekong Delta.

A Vietnamese spokesman said an understrength headquarters company of an infantry battalion — estimated between 60 and 100 men — suffered heavy casualties in the enemy attack 66 miles southwest of Saigon.

In the air offensive against North Vietnam, U.S. spokesmen reported bad weather in the Hanoi area Friday and American bombing planes hit mostly at targets in the west near Dien Bien Phu and in the southern coastal part of the country.

Unofficial reports said the poor weather prevailed today also to keep U.S. planes away from military targets in the Hanoi area for a third day since the controversial raids in mid-week.

Officials said the dead children's mother, Ethel Schiller, 25, was hospitalized in satisfactory condition. The names of the victims were not learned immediately.

The blaze destroyed the family's 1½ story frame home.

Man Charged With Murder Of Ohio Girl

BOSTON (AP)—Douglas Huot, 25, a bank employee and part-time student at Boston University from Portland, Maine, has been charged with murder in the beating death of Miss Elizabeth Orrill, 23.

Police found Miss Orrill's nude body about 5 a.m. Friday when they entered her first-floor apartment in the back bay section after receiving a report of trouble. They said Huot was administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Investigators said Huot told them he visited Miss Orrill in her apartment after a party at the Playboy Club. Police said he told them he left to get cigarettes and found the body on his return. He said he called the police.

Miss Orrill, who came to Boston a month ago from Bedford, Ohio, was a 1965 graduate of Kent State University. She obtained a job with a Boston real estate firm a few days ago while waiting for a job as a social worker.

Huot made no plea in Roxbury District Court Friday and was ordered held without bail for a hearing Dec. 28.

Dr. Michael A. Luongo, medical examiner, said Miss Orrill died of a fractured skull and brain injuries. He ruled the death a homicide.

Miss Orrill went to the nightclub with her roommate, Miss Barbara Kish, 22, formerly of Euclid, Ohio, a grade school teacher in suburban Reading, and Thomas Ritzman, 25.

Miss Kish, also a 1965 Kent graduate, said she left the party about 1:30 a. m. and went to the apartment house, where she visited Robert Leventhal, 22, of Glen Rock, N. J., a Boston University senior living on the fourth floor.

She said she heard noises in the downstairs hall and Leventhal said a male voice telephoned that "there's some trouble downstairs." Miss Kish arrived at the downstairs apartment as the police did.

Huot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Huot of Portland, has been living in nearby Brookline.

Mrs. Huot said Friday night she had not heard of her son's arrest until newsmen told her. "I can't believe it," she said. "He's never been in trouble with the police before."

GOP Warned Not To Count On LBJ Loss

Rockie Reminds
Other Governors
Of His Fortunes

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Influential Republican governors said today they cannot count on President Johnson's current drop in popularity to carry their party to victory in the 1968 presidential race.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, a top prospect for the GOP presidential nomination, said his party must offer the voters two years from now "a basic change in direction" instead of relying on a protest vote against Johnson's "Great Society" programs or on frustrations about the war in Vietnam.

"The basic issue in 1968 will be whether the people themselves are going to reclaim the direction of this government or whether it will continue to be run solely from Washington," Romney said.

Agreeing generally with this, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller discounted in a separate interview the harsh indictments Democratic state executives have drawn against Johnson during the National Governor's Conference here.

Some Democratic governors pictured Johnson as the over-spending architect of their party's defeat in the November elections.

Rockefeller, who won re-election in that balloting, said it was his feeling that local conditions dictated the outcome of the elections, "rather than some absent political personality" — Johnson in this case.

As for some Democratic suggestions that their party may have to seek a new face in 1968 unless Johnson mends his ways, Rockefeller said Republicans would be foolish to put any confidence in current public opinion polls which rank the President at a low point.

"After all," he said, "I was lower in the polls than the President ever has been and I won."

Some of the Democratic governors who had vented their political spleen on Johnson seemed to be having second thoughts.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, who voiced some harsh criticisms of the President after a midnight Democratic caucus over which he presided, said he and other dissidents expect to meet with the President "sometime after Christmas" at his Texas ranch.

Havana Puts Limit On Yule Decorating

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has limited the number of Havana stores and homes that may put up Christmas decorations, Havana radio reports.

The reason: Communist officials don't want the city's shaky electrical power system overloaded.

Power failures are frequent in Havana, sometimes blacking out areas of the capital for up to six hours.

Committee Head Views Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today he has detected "a pronounced grass roots demand for reduced government spending. But he cautioned taxpayers not to expect drastic cutbacks."

"There just isn't a large area where you can cut," Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said in an interview.

"The challenge facing the 90th Congress next year," Mahon added, "is to hold the line where possible and cut where possible so spending doesn't get out of line."

"We've got to give the war top priority and prune nondefense spending wherever we can."

Another key congressional Democrat, Sen. Russell B. Long, Senate Finance Committee and Senate Finance Committee and assistant Democratic leader, said Vietnam war costs may produce a $20 billion deficit next fiscal year unless Johnson raises taxes or sharply cuts nondefense spending.

"This buildup for programs like Medicare, aid to education and the war on poverty took decades," he added.

"What frightens me is what some of these new programs could cost if they continued to grow," Mahon said, noting that many of them have been given only initial financing.

"Congress should avoid further innovations," he said. "It should pass the necessary appropriation bills and do no farther in any significant way. This would give time for a shakedown in applying the new programs."

Mahon said he didn't think Congress would repeal any of the new programs because if it did the President would veto the action and the vetoes could not be overridden.

"It is unrealistic to expect the work of the 89th Congress to be undone by the 90th," he said. "But it should be reviewed and the brakes on spending for domestic programs should be applied judiciously."

Walt Disney Is Buried Privately

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney, whose cartoons and fantasies entertained millions throughout the world, was buried Friday with only members of his family in attendance.

Funeral services for the famed film maker were not announced until after they had been concluded at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

"The company wanted attention to remain with the man and what he stood for, not on his death," a spokesman for Walt Disney Productions said later.

Disney, 65, died Thursday in a hospital across the street from his sprawling studios, where his drawing board had created Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and a host of other cartoon characters beloved by three generations.

Studio and cemetery officials did not disclose details regarding the funeral, including disposition of the body.

Disney wanted it that way. "Mr. Disney's wishes were very specific and had been spelled out in great detail," a Forest Lawn spokesman said.

'Gains' Made But No End Ahead in 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has received from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge a report of progress in Vietnam and a prediction of further gains in 1967.

Lodge, home from his Saigon post for the holidays, gave this account to newsmen at the White House Friday night during discussions with the President and his top advisers.

Lodge said he sees no signs yet of Hanoi interest in peace. But he added he anticipates enough headway in 1967 to be able to see "light at the end of the tunnel" by then, even though the fighting is still going on.

Of what he termed the "four kinds of wars" in Vietnam — conventional arms, political development, economic development and pacification of terrorism — he said the pacification program is making the least progress and "is not yet rolling as it should be."

The 1960 Republican nominee for vice president denied he intends to resign, ducked political questions and backed the administration's Vietnam policy.

Lodge made these points while talking with reporters in the White House lobby.

—Johnson made an historic decision in coming to U. S. forces in Vietnam and the effect of American activities there has been to deny to an expansionist Red China "the great edge of Asia" from Korea to Burma.

—This has kept 370 million people out of Communist domination and, worldwide, has contributed to peace because it gives credibility to the word of America.

— "In the military war we are doing very well," the effort for political development is going "quite well," the curbing of inflation has been "a satisfactory accomplishment" though still imperfect, and the campaign against terrorism is "going least fast" despite "some progress."

—In 1967 the conventional military situation should look "much better," political evolution is in prospect, "I would hope we could hold our own economically" and "I would think we could make a start on pacification."

Lodge said the United States is willing to discuss extending the truce beyond the announced cease-fire periods over the Christmas and New Year's holidays. But he said this should be accompanied by a discussion of stopping Red terrorism, to.

The envoy said, as other officials had earlier, that U. S. planes did not escalate the war with their recent attacks in the Hanoi area. Lodge said he does not know why the Communists are alleging this.

2 Burglaries Solved with Apprehension

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff announced today two burglaries that occurred Oct. 29 in the county have been solved.

Officers said suits taken from Derreck Salvage in Williamsport were recovered in the Newark apartment of Stephen Payton and Stanley Roberts, both 22, implicating the pair in the theft.

An automobile which they allegedly owned was identified as being at the Eugene Warnock filling station at Routes 207 and 22 on the same night. An estimated $80 was taken from the station.

The pair was apprehended by Muskingum County Sheriff's officers. They allegedly were involved in a burglary in that county.

SHERIFF Radcliff said merchandise recovered at the apartment came from burglaries which occurred in Hocking, Fairfield, Licking, Perry and Muskingum Counties.

Sheriff Radcliff and Deputy Charles Jones obtained a warrant and searched the Newark apartment, along with Licking County authorities.

9 Lives Lost In 3 Wrecks By Friday PM

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three wrecks took nine lives in Ohio traffic Friday afternoon as a shocking prelude to the weekend.

Four Putnam County residents perished in a two-car collision near Miller City in that northwestern Ohio county, three Columbus residents were killed in a four-car crash a few blocks from their homes, and a Norwalk area mother and son died in a two-car smashup at a rural intersection not far from their homes.

Ana Slatman, 58, and Mrs. Mary Flores, 39, both of Rt. 2, Otawa, occupants of one auto, and Otis Butler and John Stampert both of the Continental area, in the other car, were the Putnam County victims.

In Columbus, Mrs. Ruth Gamble, 22; her son Mitchell, 10 months; and Larry D. Jones, 22, were killed in the spectacular chain crash.

Police said Jones' car struck the rear of the Gamble auto, then spun across the center line and collided with two more cars.

At the Ohio 4-Ohio 547 intersection in Huron County, five miles south of Bellevue, Mrs. Zella A. Gallegos, 35, of Rt. 3, Norwalk and her son Victor, 13, were the fatalities.

The driver of the other car there, Robert L. Smith, 34, of Sadsbury, was injured.

Citizens Patrol To Save Ornaments

NEVADA, Iowa (AP) — A group of citizens say they've had enough of vandals stealing or ruining their Christmas decorations.

So they formed a committee of armed vigilantes to patrol after dark with shotguns loaded with mustard seed or salt.

Mayor H. A. Shearman says he isn't involved with the holiday decoration defenders — but he'd be delighted to slap a stiff penalty on anybody they bring before his mayor's court.

China Denounces Alleged Attack On Its Embassy

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China claimed today four U.S. planes dive-bombed its embassy in Hanoi last Wednesday, seriously damaging that building and partly damaging a nearby office of Peking's New China News Agency.

It denounced the alleged attack as "a grave provocation" and said the United States will get "redoubled punishment for your crime."

Other Communist centers, ignoring repeated U.S. denials that the raids had been against anything except non-military targets, joined the controversy. North Vietnam's official news agency said American pilots fired rockets at the Red Chinese and Romanian embassies and that U.S. bombers attacked residential areas inside Hanoi and on its outskirts Tuesday and Wednesday.

It charged more than 100 persons were killed or wounded in the two raids.

The U.S. Defense and State Departments have denied the charges.

The U.S. military command in Saigon said: "A complete review of pilot reports and photographs showed that all ordnance expended by U.S. strike aircraft was in the military target areas (five miles south and six miles northeast of the city's center). None fell in the city of Hanoi." The targets those days were a truck park and railroad yard flanking the city.

It is not uncommon for both bombs and anti-aircraft fire to spill over into non-target areas, and U.S. spokesmen have implied stray shells and missiles from Hanoi's anti-aircraft crews may have been responsible for damage within the city.

A French account had said that the Chinese Embassy was "touched by a projectile," phrasing which did not explain either the origin of such a projectile or the result.

The official Chinese protest, the alleged attack on its embassy "clearly a grave provocation which U.S. imperialism has carried out deliberately against the Chinese people."

It warned the U.S. government that "your bombing of the Chinese embassy is a mere death-bed struggle and can only further arouse the unbending indignation of the Chinese people against U.S. imperialism; you will certainly receive retribution."

You'd Be Surprised at All You Can Get in Can Now

NEW YORK (AP) — The Christmas canning season is here — full of canned dresses, canned nails, canned mini-panties, canned ties, canned air.

"We're canning just about everything that will fit," said Wilmer Wise, vice president of Franklin Simon, a New York department store.

"Young people raised sitting on the back of a basket being pushed through a supermarket relate to things that are canned," Wise said.

"There is something ingenious and kooky about the appeal of a dress in a can," said Ben Wechsler, assistant to the president of Wippette Sportswear, Inc., which introduced Le Cane Dress in November.

"It's been a complete sellout in Canada, and we've sold 100,000 in six weeks. They're in London and Paris, too."

Wippette's president, Erwin Silver, says he picked up the idea more than a year ago when he saw stores selling canned air as a novelty and canned candies.

This fall he began canning his wrinkleproof nylon dresses to sell for $25. Matching stitch-brimmed hats cost another $7 and can be dropped into the same one-pound tin. New models are on their way for spring.

You don't even need a can opener to get at the dresses — the lids pry off.

Wise said his store has sold hundreds of canned depression survival kits which contain, among other items, instruction on how to build your own apple stand.

"Most of the things (that items — young, fun, giddy kinds of things)," Wise said.

"What doesn't come in a can, we'll can right there," he added, pointing to a canning machine.

LBJ Returns To His Ranch For Holidays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has returned to his Texas ranch for the Christmas holidays.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, flew here Friday night. Mrs. Johnson is scheduled to appear at a Christmas bake sale at Johnson City today. She planned to contribute bread and preserves made at the LBJ ranch.

Earlier Friday, Johnson visited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recuperating from a gallbladder operation at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Johnson said he and Eisenhower conferred about "one or two things I didn't know what I was going to do about. . . I discussed them with him and now I know what I'm going to do." He did not elaborate.

"I think he's on the rapid road to recovery," Johnson said of Eisenhower, adding that the five-star general was in good spirits, alert and very interested in "what is happening in the affairs I deal with."

"We've canned marble eggs, scarves, handbags, jewelry, feather dusters, games — anything that will fit. . . One day a woman called and said she had we had a canning machine. She wanted to know if we would can her preserves. We didn't do it, but it ought to give someone an idea. Someone can open a shop saying 'We'll do your canning for you.'"

If you do want to set up your own shop, Sears Roebuck & Co. has a tin can sealer for $16.99. A box of 100 No. 2 cans is $9.99, and No. 3's are $14.99.

9 Lives Lost In 3 Wrecks By Friday PM

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three wrecks took nine lives in Ohio traffic Friday afternoon as a shocking prelude to the weekend.

Four Putnam County residents perished in a two-car collision near Miller City in that north-west Ohio county, three Columbus residents were killed in a four-car crash a few blocks from their homes, and a Norwalk area mother and son died in a two-car smashup at a rural intersection not far from their homes.

Ana Slattman, 58, and Mrs. Mary Flores, 39, both of Rt. 2, Ottawa, occupants of one auto, and Otis Butler and John Stampfer both of the Continental area, in the other car, were the Putnam County victims.

In Columbus, Mrs. Ruth Gamble, 22; her son Mitchell, 10 months; and Larry D. Jones, 22, were killed in the spectacular chain crash.

Police said Jones' car struck the rear of the Gamble auto, then spun across the center line and collided with two more cars.

At the Ohio 4-Ohio 547 intersection in Huron County, five miles south of Bellevue, Mrs. Zella A. Gallegos, 35, of Rt. 3 Norwalk and her son Victor, 13, were the fatalities.

The driver of the other car there, Robert L. Smith, 34, of Sahdusky, was injured.

'Gains' Made But No End Ahead in 1967

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has received from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge a report of progress in Vietnam and a prediction of further gains in 1967.

Lodge, home from his Saigon post for the holidays, gave this account to newsmen at the White House Friday night during discussions with the President and his top advisers.

Lodge said he sees no signs yet of Hanoi interest in peace. But he added he anticipates enough headway in 1967 to be able to see "light at the end of the tunnel" by then, even though the fighting is still going on.

Of what he termed the "four kinds of wars" in Vietnam — conventional arms, political development, economic development and pacification of terrorism — he said the pacification program is making the least progress and "is not yet rolling as it should be."

The 1960 Republican nominee for vice president denied he intends to resign, ducked political questions and backed the administration's Vietnam policy.

Lodge made these points while talking with reporters in the White House lobby.

—Johnson made an historic decision in coming to U. S. forces in Vietnam and the effect of American activities there has been to deny to an expansionist Red China "the great edge of Asia" from Korea to Burma.

—This has kept 370 million people out of Communist domination and, worldwide, has contributed to peace because it gives credibility to the word of America.

Citizens Patrol To Save Ornaments

NEVADA, Iowa (AP) — A group of citizens say they've had enough of vandals stealing or ruining their Christmas decorations.

So they formed a committee of armed vigilantes to patrol after dark with shotguns loaded with mustard seed or salt.

Mayor H. A. Shearman says he isn't involved with the holiday decoration defenders — but he'd be delighted to slap a stiff penalty on anybody they bring before his mayor's court.

Yanks Drop Pamphlets On Hanoi

Avoid Further Raids in Area Of Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — American planes showered Hanoi and the Red River delta with millions of surrender leaflets today.

A U. S. spokesman said Air Force planes dropped nearly 2.5 million leaflets calling on the young men of North Vietnam "to leave your unit when you are sent south" and to enjoy good treatment from the allied forces.

The leaflet drop was carried out while a worldwide dispute still raged over American air raids on the North Vietnamese capital area earlier this week.

Communist China claimed its embassy in Hanoi was seriously damaged by the raids, and the North Vietnamese said more than 100 civilians were killed.

The United States has repeatedly denied any bombs fell in Hanoi itself in the raids Tuesday and Wednesday.

The U. S. military command has reported no raids near Hanoi since then, although American planes have struck at other targets in the Communist north.

U. S. B52 bombers struck this afternoon at a North Vietnamese base camp and supply area in the demilitarized zone, a U. S. spokesman reported. It was the fourth time this week the hit in the buffer zone between North and South Vietnam.

In fighting in South Vietnam, U. S. headquarters listed only minor action but Vietnamese military headquarters reported a headquarters unit of the Vietnamese 9th Infantry Battalion was badly mauled early today by a Viet Cong mortar and ground attack in the Mekong Delta.

A Vietnamese spokesman said an understrength headquarters company of an infantry battalion — estimated between 60 and 100 men — suffered heavy casualties in the enemy attack 66 miles southwest of Saigon.

In the air offensive against North Vietnam, U. S. spokesmen reported bad weather in the Hanoi area Friday and American bombing planes hit mostly at targets in the west near Dien Bien Phu and in the southern coastal part of the country.

Unofficial reports said the poor weather prevailed today also to keep U.S. planes away from military targets in the Hanoi area for a third day since the controversial raids in mid-week.

Technology Alone Unable To Curb Worldwide Hunger

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Weather man will produce enough food for the world's future population will depend on many things besides natural resources and technical ability, according to Dr. Wallace Barr, Ohio State University Extension economist.

Dr. Barr delivered the keynote address at the annual Ohio Lime and Fertilizer Conference held at the Ohio Expositions Center. He spoke on world food needs. He said that in addition to natural resources and technical know-how, man must find ways to overcome human, cultural, financial, social, economic and political obstacles if he is to feed the world's hungry people.

"Problems such as transportation, storage, finance, tenure, and income levels need solving. Since many of these involve the feelings and values of humans, they will be most difficult to solve," he said.

Dr. Barr reviewed the world population trend, noting how the most rapid growth rates in population are found in countries which have a low level of living. With a growing population, he pointed out, the world food supply will need to increase at the same rate as population to provide the same amount of food per capita.

"If the nutritional gap per capita is to be reduced, food output in the world needs to exceed population growth of about 2 per cent per year," he said. "This will mean, in addition to large increases in grain output, very large increases in fruits, vegetables, and animal products. But this does not tell the whole story, because it conceals the disparity among regions of the world. The heavily populated and less developed areas will require even greater percentage increases in food production to improve their levels of nutrition."

The economist said the two major methods to relieve the world food output problem are to increase the area of productive land and to increase the productivity of land already being used for food production. But he added that he believes the largest increase in world food production would come by increasing yields per acre.

"It appears that additional acreage awaits increased effective demand, investment in human effort, and large capital investments for irrigation, drainage, clearing, or other land improvement," he said. "Bringing new lands into production carries not only substantial costs, but also high risks."

The speaker explained that the world's grain area has been expanding at less than 1 per cent per year in recent decades. World population has been increasing at a rate of about 2 per cent per year. If future expansion follows the trend, he said, by the year 2,000, something less than 50 per cent of the world's food can come from new cropland. This is because the better soil is being used today and the newer lands would be less productive.

On our existing cropland, Dr. Barr noted that increased use of fertilizer could increase food output by perhaps 50 per cent. Irrigation, multiple cropping, and higher yielding and more disease and insect resistant crops also hold promise, he said.

Dr. Barr mentioned livestock improvement through breeding, disease control, improved pastures, and management as ways of increasing output of livestock products.

"Or we could expand the supply of food by shifting from an animal agriculture to an agriculture where the original calories are used for human consumption," he said.

"About 13 per cent of the world's food comes from animals. But this substitution would result in a loss of those nutrients considered valuable in diets. Also, areas with well-fed people use the animal products."

Freeman Says USDA Serves Many People

Speaking recently before the Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Outlook Conference, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman pointed out the many ways in which USDA serves the general public as well as farmers.

"Two-thirds of the Department's annual expenditures and about 90 per cent of its man-hours are devoted to services of benefit to the general public," the Secretary stated. "USDA provides for more direct services to more consumers, for instance, than does any other department or agency of government."

"Among many other things, USDA administers the biggest recreational complex, operates and maintains the biggest fire department, sells more timber than the biggest lumber company, lends more money than the biggest bank, and carries out the biggest emergency feeding program in the world."

"Of USDA's full-time employees, for instance, 30.4 per cent are in the Forest Service, protecting and managing 186 million acres in 154 National Forests, 16.9 per cent are in the Agricultural Research Service, researching ways to increase and improve food production; 14.4 per cent work in Consumer and Marketing Service, doing, among other things, the job of inspecting 6 million pounds of poultry, and 35.6 billion pounds of meat a year; but only 5.4 per cent work in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, which deals almost wholly with farm programs. Employment in this agency is down 38 per cent since 1960 — despite a heavier workload."

Records will be evaluated at the county, state and national levels. Awards consist of county medals of honor; a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress for the best in state, and $500 scholarships for the top six selected from all 50 state winners. In addition, General Foods is most to the trip winners during the 4-H Congress.

Miss Nelson observed that 4-H experience in carrying out home economics projects has often led girls to major in the subject in college. Surveys taken of former national scholarship winners showed this to be true.

Of the 12 scholarships winners for the last two years, 11 are in college, and the 12th will finish high school this June, she said.

To be eligible for state or national award, 4-Hers must be between 14 and 19 years of age, have completed three years of club work and measured up to 4-H standards for leadership, citizenship and community service.

Pickaway County 4-H Colt and Equitation Club By SUSAN REICHELDERFER. The Pickaway County 4-H Colt and Equitation Club held its organizational meeting at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

President Nancy Christy opened the meeting with the club pledge and described activities scheduled for the new year. An election of officers was held for 1967. Named were: Nancy Christy, president; Charletta Agosta, vice president; Susan Bennett, secretary; Kevin Kellstadt, treasurer; Susan Reichelderfer, news reporter; Lyn McCoy health leader; Judy Beckman safety leader; Tim Kellstadt recreation leader; Koni Wells and Cathy Wright photographers.

The constitution and by-laws were read with changes being made to have the horseman's club included in the club. The advisers discussed new and interesting ideas for the coming year.

The next meeting will be Jan. 10 at the Fairgrounds, with new members welcome to attend.

A full supply of clean towels every day is one luxury a homemaker can afford to give every member of her family. This requires little effort because few things can be kept clean more easily, efficiently and inexpensively than machine-washable and dryable terrycloth towels.

For sanitary reasons, towels should be laundered as promptly as possible, using the hottest water available for sudsing. If towels must stay in the hamper a few days before washing, first hang them to dry because bacteria and mildew multiply more rapidly on damp fabric.

Since terry tends to shed lint never put white or pastel towels in the same load with dark clothes. Bright and dark towels, reds, browns, and blacks, can be washed in the same load with other colored pieces, after loose surface dye has been flushed away. Launder these towels separately for the first few times. Even better, put them through a series of washings in repeated batches of clean suds and rinses until no tinge of color shows. After "bleeding" stops, they can be safely combined with a load of colored pieces.

Using fabric softener as directed will keep towels soft, fluffy, and absorbent. Before hanging them to dry, stretch the selvedge edges and shake fringed towel vigorously to straighten.

en and fluff the fringe. If you use a dryer, shake the towels immediately after removing them from the drum.

Put clean towels at the bottom of the pile, and rotate them in use so all parts of the set will "age" alike and continue to match. To save storage space, fold and then roll the towels navy style, instead of stacking them.

That holiday gift from your kitchen can combine good taste and good nutrition. Mrs. Pauline Hall, Extension nutritionist at Ohio State University, says there's an ideal food gift for everyone on your list.

Family members away at school or work who don't take time for breakfast will enjoy some of the instant breakfast products now on the market. Those made with or served with milk are good choices because milk provides protein plus calcium and other nutrients.

The diabetic or other person who must follow a special diet for health reasons will welcome food gifts that fit his diet prescription. Your supermarket will have many types of foods prepared with non-nutritive sweeteners. A jar of salt or sugar substitute might be a perfect gift to tuck into a Christmas stocking.

The many varieties and packs of cheese make this food a versatile and wholesome gift. Cheese and other protein foods such as frozen meats, sausage, smoked turkey or canned ham keep well beyond the holiday season. Canned fruits and vegetables can help with post-holiday meals, too. And provide vitamins and minerals.

Some traditional holiday fruits such as oranges, add vitamin C to the family diet. Fresh fruits of all kinds are always a nutritious choice. Citrus fruits, rich in vitamin C, are especially good for senior citizens.

The meal accessories, such as jams and jellies, pickles and relishes, have long been traditional gifts and are still appropriate and appreciated.

Hunters Warned By Wildlife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife has cautioned hunters that the pheasant, quail and Hungarian partridge season on private lands closes at 5 p.m. Saturday.

These species, however, can be hunted on state public hunting areas until Jan. 23, when the rabbit season closes. Ohio's grouse season extends through Feb. 25.

Based on field information gathered by division employees, the pheasant hunting success has been substantially better than last year. Rabbit hunting success has been slightly better than in 1965.

Survey of Winter Wheat Crop May Cause Some Second Thoughts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reports Dec. 2 on a winter wheat crop progress survey that could cause federal farm officials some worrisome second thoughts about their crop control program.

The report will be the Agriculture Department's first forecast of the winter wheat crop to be harvested next spring and summer.

Reports by the Weather Bureau as well as by private grain specialists of severe drought in the important central and southern Great Plains have raised some serious questions about the crop and the prospects of production next year coming to the 1.6-billion-bushel level desired by officials.

A much larger crop is needed if the United States is to continue its commercial and foreign food aid programs. A surplus that plagued farmers and officials for several years has been used in meeting the rapidly expanding foreign demands.

Despite these developments, the administration is keeping controls on wheat next year, although it authorized an increase of about 32 per cent in grower planting allotments.

This meant that growers of winter wheat and spring wheat—the latter to be seeded next spring—have a total government allotment of 68.2 million acres for the 1967 crop compared with 51.6 million this year.

Officials expressed the view that such an increase should assure an ample crop. They said elimination of controls might well lead to overproduction and a rebuilding of troublesome and costly surpluses. Some farm groups, such as the American Farm Bureau Federation, urged dropping of controls.

It is not necessarily the acreage allotment that worries wheat men. Rather it is the combination of the poor weather and reports that many farmers did not plant their full winter wheat allotments.

It is possible that underplantings and unfavorable weather could result in a poor wheat crop—with the result that the administration would be sharply criticized for its farm policies. Hence, the upcoming report will be significant not only for its production estimate but for the figures on plantings. Should the acreage run well below allotments critics could be counted on to blame the government.

But, on the other hand, should the indicated acreage be in line with the government's goals, there would be room for little criticism, other than the argument that now is not the time to employ controls.

But reports from important wheat areas say that there is farmer dissatisfaction with the price supports offered on the wheat which would be produced on the recommended increased acreage. It is $1.25 a bushel, of less than 50 per cent of the party price goal of federal farm programs.

The administration has argued that because of the big demand for grain and the disappearance of the surplus wheat prices have been averaging considerably above the support price and could be expected to do so next year.

Cattle Ailments Costly to Feeders

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,

Herd health problems may be costing Ohio cattle feeders as much as 75 cents a hundred by the time their animals are ready for market, says James H. Warner, Ohio State University Extension Beef Specialist.

When applied to the more than 500,000 feedlot cattle going to market in Ohio each year, this cost represents a 3.5 million dollar loss to cattle feeders of the state, Warner says. He bases his cost estimates on results of a recent feedlot cattle health survey involving 826 Ohio farms.

Fifty-four Pickaway County feeders participated in this study. The survey, covering the years 1964 and 1965, included 119,000 calves and yearlings. Information was obtained from a questionnaire which county Extension agents mailed to beef producers in their areas.

Total losses on the farms studied amounted to $810,166 for an average loss of $6.73 per head. Cattle deaths accounted for the most loss, according to Warner.

ON SOME farms they ran as high as 4 to 4½ per cent, although the average was 1.6 per cent, according to the specialist.

Cost of health feeds varied considerably from farm to farm the study revealed. Average cost of such items was 18 cents per head, but on some farms the figure was as much as $1.30. About 75 per cent of the farms reported they spent nothing for health feeds.

From the study results it is evident that veterinarians are involved in a majority of the cattle health problems on farms, Warner says.

Seventy-two per cent of the farms called in veterinarians when health problems developed.

ed. Veterinary bills averaged 77 cents per head. Shipping fever was the most frequently mentioned ailment.

Warner emphasized that the survey should be considered only a preliminary study and that additional work would be needed to develop more detailed and more scientific information.

Persons interested in a full report of the study may obtain a copy by writing or calling the Pickaway County Extension office, 137 W. Franklin St.

Noting that motorists do have an occasional drink during the holiday season, the club manager, Fred N. Rehm, said the safe-driving campaign was being aimed at party hosts, asking them not to kill their guests with hospitality, by encouraging them not to overindulge.

Cheese and other protein foods such as frozen meats, sausage, smoked turkey or canned ham keep well beyond the holiday season. Canned fruits and vegetables can help with post-holiday meals, too. And provide vitamins and minerals.

Some traditional holiday fruits such as oranges, and vitamin C to the family diet. Fresh fruits of all kinds are always a nutritious choice. Citrus fruits, rich in vitamin C, are especially good for senior citizens.

The meal accessories, such as jams and jellies, pickles and relishes, have long been traditional gifts and are still appropriate and appreciated.

Hunters Warned By Wildlife

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Division of Wildlife has cautioned hunters that the pheasant, quail and Hungarian partridge season on private lands closes at 5 p.m. Saturday. These species, however, can be hunted on state public hunting areas until Jan. 23, when the rabbit season closes. Ohio's grouse season extends through Feb. 23.

Based on field information gathered by division employees, the pheasant hunting success has been substantially better than last year. Rabbit hunting success has been slightly better than in 1965.

Survey of Winter Wheat Crop May Cause Some Second Thoughts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reports Dec. 2 on a winter wheat crop progress survey that could cause federal farm officials some worrisome second thoughts about their crop control program.

The report will be the Agriculture Department's first forecast of the winter wheat crop to be harvested next spring and summer.

Reports by the Weather Bureau as well as private grain specialists of severe drought in the important central and southern Great Plains have raised some serious questions about the crop and the prospects of production next year coming to the 1.6-billion-bushel level desired by officials.

A much larger crop is needed if the United States is to continue its commercial and foreign food aid programs. A surplus that plagued farmers and officials for several years has been used in meeting the rapidly expanding foreign demands.

Despite these developments, the administration is keeping controls on wheat next year, although it authorized an increase of about 32 per cent in grower planting allotments.

This meant that growers of winter wheat and spring wheat — the latter to be seeded next spring — have a total government allotment of 68.2 million acres for the 1967 crop compared with 51.6 million this year.

Officials expressed the view that such an increase should assure an ample crop. They said elimination of controls might well lead to overproduction and a rebuilding of troublesome and costly surpluses. Some farm groups, such as the American Farm Bureau Federation, urged dropping of controls.

It is not necessarily the acreage allotment that worries wheat men. Rather it is the combination of the poor weather and reports that many farmers did not plant their full winter wheat allotments.

It is possible that underplantings and unfavorable weather could result in a poor wheat crop — with the result that the administration would be sharply criticized for its farm policies. Hence, the upcoming report will be significant not only for its production estimate but for the figures on plantings. Should the acreage run well below allotments critics could be counted on to blame the government.

But, on the other hand, should the indicated acreage be in line with the government's goals, there would be room for little criticism, other than the argument that now is not the time to employ controls.

But reports from important wheat areas say that there is farmer dissatisfaction with the price supports offered on the wheat which would be produced on the recommended increased acreage. It is $1.25 a bushel, or less than 50 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs.

The administration has argued that because of the big demand for grain and the disappearance of the surplus wheat prices have been averaging considerably above the support price and could be expected to do so next year.

Cattle Ailments Costly to Feeders

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Herd health problems may be costing Ohio cattle feeders as much as 75 cents a hundred by the time their animals are ready for market, says James H. Warner, Ohio State University Extension Beef specialist.

When applied to the more than 500,000 feedlot cattle going to market in Ohio each year, this cost represents a 3.5 million dollar loss to cattle feeders of the state, Warner says. He bases his cost estimates on results of a recent feedlot cattle health survey involving 826 Ohio farms.

Fifty-four Pickaway County feeders participated in this study. The survey, covering the years 1964 and 1965, included 119,000 calves and yearlings. Information was obtained from a questionnaire which county Extension agents mailed to beef producers in their areas.

Total losses on the farms studied amounted to $810,166 for an average loss of $6.73 per head. Cattle deaths accounted for the most loss, according to Warner.

ON SOME farms they ran as high as 4 to 4½ per cent, although the average was 1.6 per cent, according to the specialist.

Cost of health feeds varied considerably from farm to farm the study revealed. Average cost of such items was 18 cents per head, but on some farms the figure was as much as $1.50. About 75 per cent of the farms reported they spent nothing for health feeds.

From the study results it is evident that veterinarians are involved in a majority of the cattle health problems on farms, Warner says.

Seventy-two per cent of the farms called in veterinarians when health problems developed. Veterinary bills averaged 77 cents per head. Shipping fever was the most frequently mentioned ailment.

Warner emphasized that the survey should be considered only a preliminary study and that additional work would be needed to develop more detailed and more scientific information.

Persons interested in a full report of the study may obtain a copy by writing or calling the Pickaway County Extension office, 137 W. Franklin St.

Hospitality, Not Hospital, Is Aim

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan has abandoned its "If you drive, don't drink" admonition in favor of "None for the road."

Noting that motorists do have an occasional drink during the holiday season, the club manager, Fred N. Rehm, said the safe-driving campaign was being aimed at party hosts, asking them not to kill their guests with hospitality, by encouraging them not to overindulge.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy meets an underground gnome who sends him to the moon cave in a Go-Bucket.

CHAPTER TWELVE THE MAGIC WORDS

The crocking rattling, crashing clangor of the Go-Bucket dropping through the earth frightened the dragon nearly out of his wits. He shivered and shook. His eyes rolled back in his head and he nearly swallowed his long forked tongue.

Then he remembered that he was a dragon (a fierce looking dragon, at that, the giant had told him so) and he said to himself, "If I think like a dragon, I will act like a dragon."

He thought quickly of all the dragons he had known and how they made rumbling noises like thunder and lashed with their tails and shot fire and smoke from their nostrils.

At that moment the Go-Bucket slammed-banged into the cave. Billy the Giant Fighter jumped out and stood there waving his sword.

The dragon reared up on his hind legs. He thumped his ponderous tail and roared. He shut his eyes and took a great breath and went "A-a-a-h."

Billy expected a sheet of flame to burst from the dragon's jaws but there was not a single spark. The dragon cleared his throat and tried again. He huffed and gargled and rumbled deep in his innards and went "A-a-a-h!" A teey, tiny wisp of smoke drifted from his nostrils. That was all.

"You're not a fire breathing dragon at all," exclaimed Billy. "I'm not afraid of you!" "I may not breathe fire," snarled the dragon, "but my tail can smash you to pieces!" He lashed out furiously with his sharp, pointed tail.

Billy threw his hands up to guard his face. He need not have bothered. The dragon's tail was not lashing back and forth. It was pumping up and down like a friendly puppy's and was doing no harm at all.

"Why, I don't believe you're even a dragon," taunted Billy. He poked the monster on the snout with his wooden sword.

"I am, too, a dragon," whimpered the poor beast. "But I've never been a very good dragon. All my friends went off to live in zoos. I did so hope if I did a good job guarding the moon someone would give me a home, too. But I am a disgrace. Who would ever want me?"

"You can go to Santa Land," said Billy. "Santa would love to have you there."

"Santa wouldn't want me," sniffed the dragon. "I'm no good to anyone."

"Help me free the moon," said Billy. "Then I bet Santa would give you a home forever because you will have saved Santa Land."

"The moon is sealed in this box," said the dragon. "Tell me what to do and I will gladly help."

Billy got his spelling book from his pocket. "Patrick Tweedledee told me the magic words that would unseal the box are in this book," he sighed. "Unfortunately, I can't read the words."

"Didn't you ever go to school?" asked the dragon in astonishment.

Billy blushed. "I didn't study very much. I wanted to be a giant fighter and I didn't think I had to study for that."

The dragon looked at the spelling book. "It's a very pretty book. It's probably filled with enough magic to open anything."

They scanned the pages together. Billy could read "Cat"

Movies Grab Up Old TV — Or Anything Else Available

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Much has been written about how the movie companies supply movies to television. Less publicized is the fact that television is also providing features for theaters. This is nothing new. The film companies tried to cash in on the immense success of stars and programs in the new medium. Only one was a success. "Dragnet" was expanded to feature length and it grossed $5 million, a whopping figure in 1954.

Other efforts failed. Warner Bros. starred Milton Berle, then

White House Doorkeeper Says Goodbye

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House west lobby through which visitors pass on their way to see the President or his staff won't be the same any more. Sam Mitchell is retiring.

"We're going to miss you," Johnson told "Mitch" Thursday night at the traditional Christmas party for White House personnel.

Mitchell long has been a favorite of White House visitors and newsmen because of his many courtesies. He has been taking coats and lighting cigarettes for visitors for 21 years under various titles including doorkeeper and chief receptionist.

A onetime cotton picker in his native Anderson County, S.C., Mitchell had little formal education and often said he learned good manners by observation.

He married a Washington school teacher and has been a widower since February 1965. Now that he has retired at 69, Mitchell will have more time for his main hobby, fishing.

More Facts Are Sought On Starlings

If visitors to your farm feedlot or backyard bird feeding station include a starling wearing a bright - colored ribbon on its wing or leg, wildlife authorities at the Ohio State University would like to know about it.

The marked birds are being studied to learn more about their habits and movements says Thomas M. Stockdale, Extension Wildlife Specialist at Ohio State. Researchers are anxious to find out more about the starling, a bird often considered a nuisance in the city and on the farm.

In an effort to gain more information, particularly their movement patterns, birds are being trapped, marked with a plastic-coated nylon ribbon and released. Ribbons are bright green or orange and easily seen against the bird's dark plumage.

Marked birds usually rejoin their flocks, Stockdale says. Through the observations of these flocks and the identification of the marked birds, new facts about the starling are being learned.

Persons seeing marked birds are requested to report it to County Extension Agent, George Hamrick at 137 W. Franklin St. or phone 474-7534. He is interested in knowing where and when you saw the bird and the color of its ribbon.

and "Dog" and "Boy" and "Baby," he said the words out loud but the sealed box did not open. The dragon turned to the front cover. "What are these words written here?" he asked.

"That's my name," explained Billy. "I can read that easy." He pointed to each word and said, "William Henry Christopher Preserver!"

As he spoke the words a strange hissing whistled through the cave. The box holding the moon rocked and swayed and bounced and bobbed.

Suddenly the seal burst and the lid flew open.

New Atom Smasher To Dig Deeper into Nuclear Realm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's proposed atom smasher may hold the key to whether science can ultimately hope to tap a hypothetical source of energy vastly more powerful than that loosed by hydrogen bombs.

Such a titanic force could come from still-undiscovered — but theorized — subnuclear particles called quarks.

Some physicists believe such particles exist within the nuclei, or hearts, of atoms and that basic building stones of all matter in the universe.

Indeed, these physicists say, the hypothetical quarks may even be the keystones to the basic forces of nature, such as gravity.

They long have said that the possible existence of this particle is a prime reason why the United States should build its proposed $375 - million atom smasher. Weston, Ill., was selected Friday as site of the device.

The Atomic Energy Commission has neither confirmed nor denied that its huge machine might settle once and for all whether quarks exist. But its scientists have indicated repeatedly that a machine of such energy, 200 billion electron volts — BEV, would for an indefinite time offer science its most powerful tool for tapping the secrets of matter.

The atom smasher is designed to explore the fundamental forces of matter by accelerating subnuclear "bullets" — such as protons and electrons — to speeds approaching the velocity of light — 186,000 miles a second — and imparting tremendous energies to them.

The projectiles then crash through the nuclei, or hearts of atoms, of various target chemicals.

The Weston machine would be a system of four different accelerators, one feeding another in series.

In each of the first three units of the system, the subnuclear projectiles — protons — would be successively sped to higher and higher energies by magnetic and other forces.

Then, the "bullets" would be injected into the main ring measuring a mile in diameter. The main ring — called a synchrotron — would consist of a ring of 500 magnets surrounding a slender vacuum tube about the size of a man's arm. The tube would comprise the race-track for the projectiles.

The entire device would be covered by at least 20 feet of earth as a shield against radiation leakage. The general public would not be allowed within 500 feet of the machine. Heavy shielding also would be provided for scientists working in the area.

All State-Assisted Schools To Adopt Quarter Calendar

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP — The Ohio Board of Regents ruled Friday that all state-assisted colleges and universities should be on the quarter calendar by September 1968.

John Marshall Briley, chairman of the board, in a statement on the controversial issue admitted that the board "cannot compel any institution to adopt a quarter calendar," but he said institutions not willing to go along just won't get any money.

Briley, in a statement to settle the question which erupted in faculty protests across the state this fall, said that state-assisted institutions can continue under their present calendar during the 1967-68 academic year, but must be on quarter schedules thereafter.

The four institutions currently on trimester calendars may be allowed to retain them, however. A final decision on the future of trimester systems will be made by next summer, said John D. Millett, regents' chancellor.

The board said it was taking the action to insure maximum utilization of higher education facilities and to provide greater opportunity for students to transfer between campuses. A statement said:

The board does not wish to suggest, for example, that students attending a branch campus of the Ohio State University on quarters can transfer

only to the central campus of that university."

Briley noted that with the rapid growth of two-year community colleges, branch colleges and technical institutes must be assured that these students can easily transfer to the large state campuses for their junior and senior years.

The ruling will immediately affect Bowling Green, Akron and Toledo University, and the Cuyahoga and Lorain County community colleges, all of which are on semesters. Nearly 37 per cent of Ohio's 187,403 students on state campuses are currently on semesters. Another 11.6 per cent are on trimesters at Miami, Central State and Wright State Universities and the Sinclair Community College.

Some physicists believe such particles exist within the nuclei, or hearts, of atoms and that basic building stones of all matter in the universe.

Indeed, these physicists say, the hypothetical quarks may even be the keystones to the basic forces of nature, such as gravity.

They long have said that the possible existence of this particle is a prime reason why the United States should build its proposed $375-million atom smasher. Weston, Ill., was selected Friday as site of the device.

The Atomic Energy Commission has neither confirmed nor denied that its huge machine might settle once and for all whether quarks exist. But its scientists have indicated repeatedly that a machine of such energy, 200 billion electron volts — BEV, would for an indefinite time offer science its most powerful tool for tapping the secrets of matter.

The atom smasher is designed to explore the fundamental forces of matter by accelerating subnuclear "bullets" — such as protons and electrons — to speeds approaching the velocity of light — 186,000 miles a second — and imparting tremendous energies to them.

The projectiles then crash through the nuclei, or hearts of atoms, of various target chemicals.

The Weston machine would be a system of four different accelerators, one feeding another in series.

In each of the first three units of the system, the subnuclear projectiles — protons — would be successively sped to higher and higher energies by magnetic and other forces.

Then, the "bullets" would be injected into the main ring measuring a mile in diameter. The main ring — called a synchrotron — would consist of a ring of 500 magnets surrounding a slender vacuum tube about the size of a man's arm. The tube would comprise the race-track for the projectiles.

The entire device would be covered by at least 20 feet of earth as a shield against radiation leakage. The general public would not be allowed within 500 feet of the machine. Heavy shielding also would be provided for scientists working in the area.

All State-Assisted Schools To Adopt Quarter Calendar

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP — The Ohio Board of Regents ruled Friday that all state-assisted colleges and universities should be on the quarter calendar by September 1968.

John Marshall Briley, chairman of the board, in a statement on the controversial issue admitted that the board "cannot compel any institution to adopt a quarter calendar," but he said institutions not willing to go along just won't get any money.

Briley, in a statement to settle the question which erupted in faculty protests across the state this fall, said that state-assisted institutions can continue under their present calendar during the 1967-68 academic year, but must be on quarter schedules thereafter.

The four institutions currently on trimester calendars may be allowed to retain them, however. A final decision on the future of trimester systems will be made by next summer, said John D. Millett, regents' chancellor.

The board said it was taking the action to insure maximum utilization of higher education facilities and to provide greater opportunity for students to transfer between campuses. A statement said:

The board does not wish to suggest, for example, that students attending a branch campus of the Ohio State University on quarters can transfer

only to the central campus of that university."

Briley noted that with the rapid growth of two-year community colleges, branch colleges and technical institutes must be assured that these students can easily transfer to the large state campuses for their junior and senior years.

The ruling will immediately affect Bowling Green, Akron and Toledo University, and the Cuyahoga and Lorain County community colleges, all of which are on semesters. Nearly 37 per cent of Ohio's 187,403 students on state campuses are currently on semesters. Another 11.6 per cent are on trimesters at Miami, Central State and Wright State Universities and the Sinclair Community College.

Mr. ZIP Likes Good Little Kiddies, Too

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Acting Postmaster Anthony Facas recently answered one of the 20 letters received at the post office addressed to Santa Claus.

He wrote: "Dear little friend. Your letter makes me glad that you are good. Santa is coming to visit all good little girls and boys. Here's love, Santa."

But at the bottom of the letter, Facas added: "P.S. Mr. ZIP will help me find you. You are my helper, too, when you use ZIP code."

"Good thing for you they're making poverty respectable."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN CZARIST RUSSIA there once dwelled a rabbi with such a golden voice that everybody clamored to hear him. In his sleigh he made a triumphal tour. In every city he visited, pretty girls pelted him with roses and rich merchants plied him with compliments and gifts.

Outside one town the rabbi's faithful driver stopped the sleigh and suggested, "Rabbi, for once I'd like to be the one receiving all the honors and attention. Just for tonight, change clothes with me. You be the driver and I'll be the rabbi."

The preacher, a merry and generous soul, agreed, but added, "Remember, clothes do not make the man. If you're asked to explain some difficult passage of the Talmudic Laws, see that you don't make a fool of yourself."

The exchange was effected. When the two men arrived at their destination, the bogus rabbi was received with tumultuous enthusiasm, and obviously enjoyed every minute of it. Furthermore, since he had heard the rabbi's speech a hundred times, he delivered it faultlessly.

Then, however, came the dreaded question period. Sure enough, an aged scholar arose and propounded a tricky, delicate question. The real rabbi in the back of the hall groaned, "Now he'll make a fool of himself." But the driver was equal to the occasion.

"A fine scholar you are!" he scoffed. "Why, your problem is such a simple one that even the old dull-witted fellow who drives my sleigh must know the answer. Driver, come up here to the platform and answer this poor fellow!"

The artist Utrillo is reputed to have saved the Mona Lisa for the Louvre when the Nazis occupied Paris by persuading them it was a copy. "The original was spirited out of France months ago," he assured them. And they believed him.

You'll Sell It Faster with a WANT AD

NEW YORK (AP) — Yep, there's no doubt about it. You are middle-aged if —

You talk to yourself while shaving.

One pair of glasses is no longer enough. There is the pair for the pocket, and the spare pair kept in the desk at the office, and the urge to have a third pair at home.

You can remember every day you spent in kindergarten, but forget your wedding anniversary.

In your wallet is a card that names your allergies, your blood type, and the diseases that the doctor of your choice estimates your flesh is heir to.

Also in your wallet is a calendar for 1954 which your insurance agent gave you in 1953 and you haven't gotten around to discarding.

You can't recall writing or receiving a love letter since the Johnstown Flood.

Prejudice surface by reflex. You don't have to read all the details of a murder case to decide who is guilty.

Your fingernails seem to be thinner than they used to be, and turn blue quicker in cold weather.

The barber quits telling you he can help save your falling hair.

More and more often you prefer to read the short items rather than the long items in your newspaper, unless the long item is an obituary.

Each day seems to trudge forever, but the years go by like butterflies.

One of the first chores of morning is to clear your throat. Then you are ready for the next problem.

Before eating a piece of breakfast toast you turn it over to see if it is darker on the other side.

You find yourself listening

more to the inside voice of yourself than the outside voices of others.

Now and then you hear clearly what your wife is saying, whether or not you agree with her verdicts.

Your office desk is a museum of the future, full of papers you have glanced at and have postponed taking a longer look at until later. Why make up your mind now?

One of the things you are certain you dislike is a plastic Christmas tree. You feel the same way about wax fruit or artificial flowers.

Before you buy anything you thing only partly worn out. Isn't it worth keeping a little longer? Doesn't it have a salvage value?

You're not so sure of where you are going, but, wherever it is, you are in less of a hurry to get there. You want to continue the vista from your window.

That is middle age.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumer restraint is now playing a powerful role in slowing the American economy. Many purchases are being postponed. Lower-priced items are becoming more attractive.

This change has been developing undramatically for many months. There have been no statements, no announcements. But the evidence is obvious: There is a growing tendency toward a buyer's rather than a seller's market.

Retail sales during the latest calendar month showed a dip from October figures. The increase in installment credit by consumers has turned lower.

Although higher than last year, Christmas sales in some stores are still not as high as had been expected.

Automobile dealers are complaining of lower sales, and all automobile manufacturers have cut back production. Sales of luxury products and big-ticket items are not up to expectations in many areas.

Some of the major appliance manufacturers have scaled down their expectations for 1967 and have, in fact, announced sizable production cutbacks of such items as home laundry equipment and refrigerators.

Furniture sales are off, related perhaps to the depression in housing. House construction has fallen to one of the lowest rates in many years, the result primarily of high interest rates.

A big exception seems to be color television set sales, which manufacturers say are booming. Even so, one of the major manufacturers has laid off some workers at one plant.

Consumer confidence has been on the wane throughout the year. The highly regarded University of Michigan Consumer Study found that at this time a year ago confidence was at a very high peak. It has dropped steadily since then.

Why? Perhaps because of all the cautionary talk of inflation, recession, higher taxes and escalation in Vietnam. Perhaps also it is a straight dollars and cents matter — that he less the consumer has to spend the less confidence he has in spending it.

A study by the National Industrial Conference Board shows that there was very little increase this year in the consumer's discretionary purchasing power; that is, in the amount left over after essentials were paid for.

The board attributed this slow growth to factors such as a decrease in disposable income, tight money, and a speedup in the withholding of personal income taxes.

Reflecting this, consumers increased their installment credit by only $380 million during October — the latest figure — the smallest monthly advance in nearly two years.

A slowdown isn't all bad, however. For a time it might make life a bit less pleasant than before. But a slowdown offers hope in correcting the economic imbalances that have produced

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

An ulcer is a sore or break in the skin or mucous membrane that lines the mouth, stomach and intestines.

Ulcers can occur in all parts of the body, in the mouth or on the corner of the eye or as readily as they can in the stomach.

Wherever the ulcer is, it forms a crater or a trench and, therefore, exposes the underlying tissue to infection.

Ulcers of the legs, feet and toes deserve particular attention. Too often they are considered insignificant and are neglected for long periods of time, thus complicating treatment and prolonging the disability that results.

Arteriosclerosis, varicose veins, diabetes, thrombosis (clot), phlebitis and many neurological disorders may be responsible for ulcers of the legs. Injuries burns by fire or chemicals and frostbite are also frequent causes.

Poor circulation of the blood, especially in the elderly, can cause a simple but neglected scratch or cut to develop into a troublesome ulcer.

The healing of leg ulcers depends on the control of infection and the increase of the blood supply to the affected part.

The application of salves on ulcers of the arms or legs may soothe the conscience, but will rarely alone effect a permanent cure or prevent a recurrence unless the basic cause of the ulcer is understood and remedied.

Bed rest to improve circulation is valuable for the healing of the ulcers. Antibiotics are used to counteract the bacterial infections that delay healing. Special enzymes are used to help nature remove from the ulcers the debris which tend to impair the healing process.

Antiseptic solutions enthusiastically recommended by well meaning friends can sometimes be harmful. Powerful antiseptic agents indiscriminately chosen can destroy nature's delicate healing mechanisms.

Wet dressings may be beneficial, but must only be applied at the discretion of the doctor. Oversoaking ulcers can retard the progress of healing.

Many new drugs are now used successfully to dilate the blood vessels of the leg in order to increase the healthy healing circulation.

Surgery of the sympathetic nervous system, a special division of the nerves of the spine, is carefully chosen in special cases to increase blood supply. Three prime rules can prevent prolonged painful, incapacitating complications of leg ulcers.

First: Any break in the skin of an individual known to have poor circulation should be treated by a physician.

Second: Salves, ointments and all medicines except those for simple emergency cleaning should be specifically chosen by the doctor.

Third: The underlying cause of impaired circulation must be determined and remedied.

"Good thing for you they're making poverty respectable."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN CZARIST RUSSIA there once dwelled a rabbi with such a golden voice that everybody clamored to hear him. In his sleigh he made a triumphal tour. In every city he visited, pretty girls pelted him with roses and rich merchants plied him with compliments and gifts.

Outside one town the rabbi's faithful driver stopped the sleigh and suggested, "Rabbi, for once I'd like to be the one receiving all the honors and attention. Just for tonight, change clothes with me. You be the driver and I'll be the rabbi."

The preacher, a merry and generous soul, agreed, but added, "Remember, clothes do not make the man. If you're asked to explain some difficult passage of the Talmudic Laws, see that you don't make a fool of yourself."

The exchange was effected. When the two men arrived at their destination, the bogus rabbi was received with tumultuous enthusiasm, and obviously enjoyed every minute of it. Furthermore, since he had heard the rabbi's speech a hundred times, he delivered it faultlessly.

Then, however, came the dreaded question period. Sure enough, an aged scholar arose and propounded a tricky, delicate question. The real rabbi in the back of the hall groaned, "Now he'll make a fool of himself." But the driver was equal to the occasion.

"A fine scholar you are!" he scoffed. "Why, your problem is such a simple one that even the old dull-witted fellow who drives my sleigh must know the answer. Driver, come up here to the platform and answer this poor fellow!"

The artist Utrillo is reputed to have saved the Mona Lisa for the Louvre when the Nazis occupied Paris by persuading them it was a copy. "The original was spirited out of France months ago," he assured them. And they believed him.

WANT AD

Recognizing Middle Age

By Hal Boyie

NEW YORK (AP) — Yep, there's no doubt about it. You are middle-aged if — You talk to yourself while shaving.

One pair of glasses is no longer enough. There is the pair for the pocket, and the spare pair kept in the desk at the office, and the urge to have a third pair at home.

You can remember every day you spent in kindergarten, but forget your wedding anniversary.

In your wallet is a card that names your allergies, your blood type, and the diseases that the doctor of your choice estimates your flesh is heir to.

Also in your wallet is a calendar for 1954 which your insurance agent gave you in 1953 and you haven't gotten around to discarding.

You can't recall writing or receiving a love letter since the Johnstown Flood.

Prejudice surface by reflex. You don't have to read all the details of a murder case to decide who is guilty.

Your fingernails seem to be thinner than they used to be, and turn blue quicker in cold weather.

The barber quits telling you he can help save your falling hair.

More and more often you prefer to read the short items rather than the long items in your newspaper, unless the long item is an obituary.

Each day seems to trudge forever, but the years go by like butterflies.

One of the first chores of morning is to clear your throat. Then you are ready for the next problem.

Before eating a piece of breakfast toast you turn it over to see if it is darker on the other side.

You find yourself listening

more to the inside voice of yourself than the outside voices of others.

Now and then you hear clearly what your wife is saying, whether or not you agree with her verdicts.

Your office desk is a museum of the future, full of papers you have glanced at and have postponed taking a longer look at until later. Why make up your mind now?

One of the things you are certain you dislike is a plastic Christmas tree. You feel the same way about wax fruit or artificial flowers.

Before you buy anything you think only partly worn out. Isn't it worth keeping a little longer? Doesn't it have a salvage value?

You are not so sure of where you are going, but, wherever it is, you are in less of a hurry to get there. You want to continue the vista from your window.

That is middle age.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumer restraint is now playing a powerful role in slowing the American economy. Many purchases are being postponed. Lower-priced items are becoming more attractive.

This change has been developing undramatically for many months. There have been no statements, no announcements. But the evidence is obvious: There is a growing tendency toward a buyer's rather than a seller's market.

Retail sales during the latest calendar month showed a dip from October figures. The increase in installment credit by consumers has turned lower.

Although higher than last year, Christmas sales in some stores are still not as high as had been expected.

Automobile dealers are complaining of lower sales, and all automobile manufacturers have cut back production. Sales of luxury products and big-ticket items are not up to expectations in many areas.

Some of the major appliance manufacturers have scaled down their expectations for 1967 and have, in fact, announced sizable production cutbacks of such items as home laundry equipment and refrigerators.

Furniture sales are off, related perhaps to the depression in housing. House construction has fallen to one of the lowest rates in many years, the result primarily of high interest rates.

A big exception seems to be color television set sales, which manufacturers say are booming. Even so, one of the major manufacturers has laid off some workers at one plant.

Consumer confidence has been on the wane throughout the year. The highly regarded University of Michigan Consumer Study found that at this time a year ago confidence was at a very high peak. It has dropped steadily since then.

Why? Perhaps because of all the cautionary talk of inflation, recession, higher taxes and escalation in Vietnam. Perhaps also it is a straight dollars and cents matter — that the less the consumer has to spend the less confidence he has in spending it.

A study by the National Industrial Conference Board shows that there was very little increase this year in the consumer's discretionary purchasing power; that is, in the amount left over after essentials were paid for.

The board attributed this slow growth to factors such as a decrease in disposable income, tight money, and a speedup in the withholding of personal income taxes.

Reflecting this, consumers increased their installment credit by only $380 million during October — the latest figure — the smallest monthly advance in nearly two years.

A slowdown isn't all bad, however. For a time it might make life a bit less pleasant than before. But a slowdown offers hope in correcting the economic imbalances that have produced

Student Admits to Deception

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—An 18-year-old North Carolina State University freshman has admitted tying and gagging himself to test police theories of suicide in the bizarre death of a fellow student earlier this week.

Kennedy Wayne Glasgow of Halifax told Raleigh police he had trussed himself up Wednesday night to test their theories that Raymond P. McCauley may have committed suicide.

McCauley was found strangled in his locked dormitory room. He had an extension cord tied around his neck and was bound hand and foot and gagged.

Pending an inquest, police have speculated his death was suicide.

Glasgow told police he read versions of McCauley's death and did not believe them possible. He said he then decided to try them on himself.

Officers first quoted Glasgow as saying he was attacked from behind in his dormitory room and that he fainted before he could see his assailant.

Glasgow told police that no hoax was intended. No charges were filed.

Teacher Still Going Strong After 60 Years of Service

By GEORGE ESPER

NEW YORK (AP) — One winter day 60 years ago, a young schoolteacher began her first regular assignment in a New York City elementary school. She was 20 years old and unmarried.

Today, Elizabeth Kearns, a widowed grandmother who celebrated her 81st birthday 10 days ago, is still teaching. She has no immediate plans to retire.

"Age," she said in an interview today, "is not a matter of years. It's a matter of spirit. I don't feel old. I think one has to keep busy in order to be healthy. I think anybody who is busy accomplishes something benefits by what they're doing."

Mrs. Kearns is one of the oldest active teachers in New York state.

She stays young by teaching first-graders at St. Joseph's School in suburban Garden City on Long Island. In 13 years at St. Joseph's, she hasn't missed a day because of illness.

To illustrate her point about staying healthy, Mrs. Kearns recalled that she retired in September 1952 for one year.

"I stayed home," she said. "I had all kinds of aches and pains. The doctors couldn't find anything. Tension pains was the way they put it. I joined St. Joseph's in September 1953. I never had any pains after I was back to work and I've never had any since."

Mrs. Kearns was born in Calais, Maine, on Dec. 6, 1885, but her family moved to New York when she was three years old. She married Thomas Kearns in 1916 and took five years off from teaching to raise a family. She has five children, including twins, all of whom are married. She has 25 grandchildren.

A Little Something For Everybody!

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., who is going to spend the holiday in Vietnam, says he'll be taking along tape recordings, religious medallions and 600 pounds of salami for the troops.

He said the tapes come from the families of servicemen in his area, the medallions from the National Jewish Welfare Board and the salami from a local merchant.

Muscovites Happily Go Bourgeois

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow will get its first baby sitter service next year.

Parents in the Soviet capital now have to rely on relatives or friends if they want to go out and leave the children at home. The custom of neighboring girls working as baby sitters is little known here.

With the organization set up, a telephone call will solve the problem. A sitter will come and stay until parents get back.

This is only one of several innovations aimed at making Moscow life easier.

Starting next year the Muscovite will be able to call for —

A pianist to play at a wedding party.

An interior decorator to give advice on improving the appearance of the family apartment.

A student to tutor a child having trouble with school work.

A dressmaker to alter clothes to conform to the newest style.

Someone to look after the flowers and pets while the family is on vacation.

A cook to prepare food for parties.

A nurse to care for sick relatives.

State Employees' Pay Raise To Go To Legislators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The General Assembly will receive posed pay raise package for state employees, Ohio Finance Director Richard Krabach reported Friday.

The bill will "cover all state employees but the bulk of the money would go to the lower paid state workers just as the last pay act in 1965," Krabach said.

The monetary package will probably equal or exceed the $25 million in increased granted to more than 40,000 state employees last year, he added.

The legislature convenes Jan. 2 and Krabach said he hoped the legislation "would pass as an emergency bill so areas of critical need could be met during the coming months."

private dances.

The paper Evening Moscow, which announced the new services, said it has received many calls from readers which show how great the need is.

The postwar prosperity of the Soviet Union, compared with the Spartan days under Stalin, has created demand for services which once would have been contemptuously dismissed as bourgeois.

Student Admits to Deception

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — An 19-year-old North Carolina State University freshman has admitted tying and gagging himself to test police theories of suicide in the bizarre death of a fellow student earlier this week.

Kennedy Wayne Glasgow of Halifax told Raleigh police he had trussed himself up Wednesday night to test their theories that Raymond P. McCauley may have committed suicide.

McCauley was found strangled in his locked dormitory room. He had an extension cord tied around his neck and was bound hand and foot and gagged.

Pending an inquest, police have speculated his death was suicide.

Glasgow told police he read versions of McCauley's death and did not believe them possible. He said he then decided to try them on himself.

Officers first quoted Glasgow as saying he was attacked from behind in his dormitory room and that he fainted before he could see his assailant.

Glasgow told police that no hoax was intended. No charges were filed.

Teacher Still Going Strong After 60 Years of Service

By GEORGE ESPER
NEW YORK (AP) — One winter day 60 years ago, a young schoolteacher began her first regular assignment in a New York City elementary school. She was 20 years old and unmarried.

Today, Elizabeth Kearns, a widowed grandmother who celebrated her 81st birthday 10 days ago, is still teaching. She has no immediate plans to retire.

"Age," she said in an interview today, "is not a matter of years. It's a matter of spirit. I don't feel old. I think one has to keep busy in order to be healthy. I think anybody who is busy or accomplishes something benefits by what they're doing."

Mrs. Kearns is one of the oldest active teachers in New York state.

She stays young by teaching first-graders at St. Joseph's School in suburban Garden City on Long Island. In 13 years at St. Joseph's, she hasn't missed a day because of illness.

To illustrate her point about staying healthy, Mrs. Kearns recalled that she retired in September 1952 for one year.

"I stayed home," she said. "I had all kinds of aches and pains. The doctors couldn't find anything. Tension pains was the way they put it. I joined St. Joseph's in September 1953. I never had any pains after I was back to work and I've never had any since."

Mrs. Kearns was born in Calais, Maine, on Dec. 6, 1885, but her family moved to New York when she was three years old. She married Thomas Kearns in 1916 and took five years off from teaching to raise a family. She has five children, including twins, all of whom are married. She has 25 grandchildren.

A Little Something For Everybody!

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., who is going to spend the holiday in Vietnam, says he'll be taking along tape recordings, religious medallions and 600 pounds of salami for the troops.

He said the tapes come from the families of servicemen in his area, the medallions from the National Jewish Welfare Board and the salami from a local merchant.

Muscovites Happily Go Bourgeois

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow will get its first baby sitter service next year.

Parents in the Soviet capital now have to rely on relatives or friends if they want to go out and leave the children at home. The custom of neighboring girls working as bay sitters is little known here.

With the organization set up, a telephone call will solve the problem. A sitter will come and stay until parents get back.

This is only one of several innovations aimed at making Moscow life easier.

Starting next year the Muscovite will be able to call for —
A pianist to play at a wedding party.

An interior decorator to give advice on improving the appearance of the family apartment.

A student to tutor a child having trouble with school work.

A dressmaker to alter clothes to conform to the newest style.

Someone to look after the flowers and pets while the family is on vacation.

A cook to prepare food for parties.

A nurse to care for sick relatives.

State Employees' Pay Raise To Go To Legislators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The General Assembly will receive posed pay raise package for state employees, Ohio Finance Director Richard Krabach reported Friday.

The bill will "cover all state employees but the bulk of the money would go to the lower paid state workers just as the last pay act in 1965," Krabach said.

The monetary package will probably equal or exceed the $25 million in increased granted to more than 40,000 state employees last year, he added.

The legislature convenes Jan. 2 and Krabach said he hoped the legislation "would pass as an emergency bill so areas of critical need could be met during the coming months."

private dances.

The paper Evening Moscow, which announced the new services, said it has received many calls from readers which show how great the need is.

The postwar prosperity of the Soviet Union, compared with the Spartan days under Stalin, has created demand for services which once would have been contemptuously dismissed as bourgeois.

Dear Abby: 10 Commandments for Today's Wives

In response to the overwhelming number of requests to reprint my TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY WIVES, which was the forerunner of my recently published TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY HUSBANDS, I hereby comply:

1. Defile not thy body neither with excessive foods, tobacco nor alcohol, that thy days may be long in the house which thy husband provideth for thee.

2. Putteth thy husband before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for he is thy lifelong companion.

3. Thou shalt not nag.

4. Permit no one to tell thee that thou art having a hard time of it; neither thy mother, thy sister, nor thy neighbor, for the Judge will not hold her guiltless who letteth another disparage her husband.

5. Thou shalt not withhold affection from thy husband, for every man loveth to be loved.

6. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness and modest attire.

7. Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need forgiveness.

8. Remember that the frank approval of thy husband is worth more to thee than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers.

9. Keep thy home in good order, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.

10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

NO SNOB

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago you printed a letter from a woman whose husband had a chance for a better job but it meant moving to another city, which frightened her. You advised her to be a good kid, smile, and go with him.

I felt so smug at the time because I was waiting to be moved to our new home.

Now that we are moved I am miserable. My children have regressed to bed-wetting and thumb-sucking, and their school work has slipped from excellent to poor. The sale of our home turned out to be a financial loss, and to complete the picture my husband is very unhappy in his new position. We can't go back.

Abby, some families are just not meant for relocating. Now that I am a bitter, frustrated transplant I have met oodles of women in the same boat. Why didn't I hear their stories before? I think your optimism was misleading.

WILTED

DEAR WILTED: When a man is asked to move his family in order to "grow" with his company, it usually proves to be beneficial for all concerned.

Since no one has a crystal ball, some moves are bound to be disappointing. But ours would be a sad society if everyone stayed rooted in one place for fear of making a mistake.

I agree, you have had an unfortunate start, but between you and me, "a few months" is hardly a fair period for adjustment. (P. S. Perhaps your husband is "unhappy" in his new job because you are miserable at home.)

Mrs. Mavis Hosts Busy Bees

Mrs. Fred K. Mavis, 1089 Sunshine St., was hostess to the Round Town Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Club at a noon luncheon.

Mrs. Dixon conducted the business session and heard various reports of the club and thanked Mrs. Ray Anderson for making the name tags used at the recent county meeting. Mrs. Daniel Eitel gave the secretary and treasurer reports.

Mrs. Betty King of Amanda presented a program on "Liquid Embroidering." The group sent a box of cookies to the Pickaway County Children's Home.

Christmas Softpedaled By Castro's Red Regime

HAVANA (AP) — This sun-baked Caribbean island's eight million inhabitants face a rationed holiday season again this year.

Although there is no official position on the issue, Cuba's Communist regime softpedals the religious observance of Christmas.

Santa Claus is classified as a dirty capitalist and his memory is being erased from the minds of those who remember that he used to bring them gifts on Dec. 25.

The emphasis is on year-end fiestas and the Jan. 1 celebration of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's assumption of power.

There will be a few toys, nuts and candy for children and some wine, rum and possibly a extra quota of meat and beans for their parents. But there are indications there will be less than the limited quantities available last year.

All holiday items — food, drink, toys and gifts — are rationed under the Communist system of "equal distribution."

The few holiday decorations in downtown Havana have no religious theme. Few homes show any indication of the day Christians celebrate.

Christmas or New Year's cards feature bells, flowers, country scenes, testaments to Soviet-Cuban friendship and pictures of tourist attractions such as Havana's Morro Castle and its centuries-old cathedral.

The government put out a carefully worded statement recently that said, in effect, that only a few toys had been imported because of the drop in world sugar prices.

It emphasized that there will be as many toys as last year, but indicated many were locally produced. There will not be as many of the big items such as bicycles, trucks, toy rifles, skates, dolls and carriages.

Czechoslovakia and Poland supplied many bicycles last year. Communist China and the Soviet Union provided a variety of items from dolls to cheap metal guns, toy vehicles, airplanes and dollhouse furniture.

Prices are about the same as last year. Czech bicycles sell for 60 pesos, small table radios for 85, mixers for 65 to 75. A Cuban-made baseball costs 7 pesos; a small fragile doll, 5 to 12 pesos. By official computation the peso is equivalent to $1.

The government is planning a year-end dinner for 50,000 to 100,000 people in Havana's Revolutionary Plaza — at 3 pesos a plate. It has made no announcement so far whether there will be any extra quotas of meat, fowl, rice or beans for the traditional Christmas Eve dinner.

Christmas Softpedaled By Castro's Red Regime

HAVANA (AP) — This sun-baked Caribbean island's eight million inhabitants face a rationed holiday season again this year.

Although there is no official position on the issue, Cuba's Communist regime softpedals the religious observance of Christmas.

Santa Claus is classified as a dirty capitalist and his memory is being erased from the minds of those who remember that he used to bring them gifts on Dec. 25.

The emphasis is on year-end fiestas and the Jan. 1 celebration of the eighth anniversary of Fidel Castro's assumption of power.

There will be a few toys, nuts and candy for children and some wine, rum and possibly a extra quota of meat and beans for their parents. But there are indications there will be less than the limited quantities available last year.

All holiday items — food, drink, toys and gifts — are rationed under the Communist system of "equal distribution."

The few holiday decorations in downtown Havana have no religious theme. Few homes show any indication of the day Christians celebrate.

Christmas or New Year's cards feature bells, flowers, country scenes, testaments to Soviet-Cuban friendship and pictures of tourist attractions such as Havana's Morro Castle and its centuries-old cathedral.

The government put out a carefully worded statement recently that said, in effect, that only a few toys had been imported because of the drop in world sugar prices.

It emphasized that there will be as many toys as last year, but indicated many were locally produced. There will not be as many of the big items such as bicycles, trucks, toy rifles, skates, dolls and carriages.

Czechoslovakia and Poland supplied many bicycles last year. Communist China and the Soviet Union provided a variety of items from dolls to cheap metal guns, toy vehicles, airplanes and dollhouse furniture.

Prices are about the same as last year. Czech bicycles sell for 60 pesos, small table radios for 85, mixers for 65 to 75. A Cuban-made baseball costs 7 pesos; a small fragile doll, 5 to 12 pesos. By official computation the peso is equivalent to $1.

The government is planning a year-end dinner for 50,000 to 100,000 people in Havana's Revolutionary Plaza — at 3 pesos a plate. It has made no announcement so far whether there will be any extra quotas of meat, fowl, rice or beans for the traditional Christmas Eve dinner.

Westfall Pulls Surprise on Paint Valley

Hamman Notches 31 As Mustangs Win SVC Contest, 67-51

Westfall pulled a surprise on Paint Valley Friday in gaining 67-51 win in the Scioto Valley Conference action in defense of the title won by the Mustangs last season.

Westfall and Laurelville now share the conference lead. Both have 1-0 records. Pike-ton and Paint Valley have 0-1 marks while Unioto and Logan Elm have yet to play a conference game.

Over all, Westfall has won two and lost four this season. The Bearcats have a similar record.

The Mustangs trailed, 7-6, early in the initial period, but led 12-9 at the buzzer. By half-time the Mustangs had built a 31-21 lead.

THEY widened that 10-point margin to an 11 point edge as the third period started and had little trouble with the visitors in the final canto.

Pacing the Mustang win was Andy Hamman with 31 points. The junior guard hit nine of 16 attempts from the field and missed only once in 14 trips to the charity stripe.

Charles Palmer also scored in double figures, notching 12.

For the losers, Pat Haas, a 6-4 center, was the only player to score more than nine. He had six shots from the field and one at the charity stripe for a 13-point total. Mike Kinnamon and Chris Shaw, a 6-3 senior forward, had nine each for the losers.

Westfall committed 11 turnovers compared to four for the losers.

The Mustangs grabbed 29 rebounds and the bigger Paint Valley crew had 21.

WESTFALL hit 20 of 46 shots from the field and Paint Valley made good on 21 of 51.

Westfall was able to exercise ball control against the Bearcats' man-to-man offense, playing for the good shots.

Pressing throughout the game, the Mustangs forced the losers to take many bad shots.

Keith Karshner was lost to the Mustangs this week with a broken bone in his wrist which apparently occurred during practice. He will be out for at least eight weeks, Coach Larry Wilson said.

Karshner is the second Mustang with a broken bone. Ronnie Ward fractured his foot before the season started and is still sidelined.

The Westfall reserves won the preliminary tilt, 56-39. The junior varsity has a 5-1 record for the season.

The other win was a 62-58 decision over Central. Losses have been by a 77-75 score to North and a 61-57 count to West.

Saban Named Coach, Boss Of Broncos

By MURRAY CHASS
Lou Saban, on top of the American Football League when he left, is returning — at the bottom.

"There can be little left to conquer in professional football," Saban said on the second day of this year when he left the Buffalo Bills after coaching them to two consecutive AFL championships.

The day after he left the Bills, Saban agreed to a four-year contract to coach at the University of Maryland.

The school announced his resignation Friday, and at the same time, the Denver Broncos, in last place in the AFL's Western Division, said Saban had agreed to terms of a 10-year contract to be both coach and general manager.

In other coaching appointments, Frank Rodgers was named to the Kansas job and Vince Gibson was given the task of starting Kansas State on the right road after two winless seasons.

In other coaching developments, Bill Doley, an assistant at Georgia, turned down the head job at Mississippi State and then was reported to be the choice at North Carolina. Johnny Majors, an Arkansas assistant, was said to be the new No. 1 candidate at Mississippi State. Steve Musseau, meanwhile, was retained as head coach at Idaho.

At the end of the first quarter last night Teays Valley led, 18-15. The score was 44-24 at halftime as the hosts took a comfortable lead into the locker room.

THEY maintained their 20-point edge in the third quarter and the score stood at 59-39 as the final canto opened.

Rod Teets, Viking 6-5 center, scored 20 points by canning seven shots from the floor and hitting six charity tosses. In addition, he hauled in 16 rebounds. The Vikings grabbed a total of 42 rebounds in the tilt.

Giving Teets an assist in scoring were Vic Love with 12 and Mike Stone with 10. Mike Lombardo and Ron Leatherwood notched six each. Bruce Reese scored nine and Jim Estep five.

Trimmer's 16 points was high effort for the losers.

Teays Valley hit 22 of 50 field goals for a 46 per cent accuracy rate. At the foul line, they converted 22 of 33 tries for a 67 per cent average.

Walnut Ridge made 10 of 13 shots from the foul line for a 77 per cent rate.

THE VISITING Scots have a 0-4 record for the season.

The Walnut Ridge reserves salvaged a win in the preliminary game, stopping the Viking junior varsity, 52-36.

Circleville Quintet Quells WCH Blue Lion Bid, 59-41

By HERB AMEY

Circleville's Tigers, shutting off the Washington C. H. offense in the final period, rolled to a 59-41 win on the Blue Lions' court Friday in South Central Ohio league action.

It was the third cage win for Circleville in seven starts and brings their loop record to 1-2. The Lions have lost five straight and stand at the bottom of the league ladder.

The Lions, definitely keying on Tiger standout Tim Stonerock, didn't allow any easy shots as the league's leading scorer was held to 10 points. He attempted 16 shots from the field and hit on only four. But he cashed in on 11 of 14 free throw attempts.

Stonerock had his troubles in the first half, canning only one field goal in 11 tries. Two of three charity tosses brought his total to four.

IN THE third he ran into foul trouble and sat out the period. Tiger mentor Chuck Hill sent Stonerock back in the fourth and he tallied three baskets and nine free throws.

Dan Gibbs played his best game of the season for Circleville, marking 15 points on six field goals and three charity tosses. His accuracy in the third period helped keep the Tigers on top and maintain their momentum.

Dan Speakman also had 15 for Circleville. He hit seven of nine attempts from the floor and one of two from the line.

The first period was low scoring with many turnovers and defensive rebounds. At one time the Tigers were down by four, 10-6. But they quickly came back and the score at the buzzer was 12-12.

The second quarter was more of the same and the score at the end of the half showed Circleville on top, 22-20.

Late in the third Washington recaptured the lead. But Gibbs fired in two consecutive baskets to put Circleville back in front, 31-29. Jeff Steele made two free throws for the Tigers at the end of the period to give them a 37-34 edge.

THE FOURTH quarter scoring was dominated by Stonerock and Gibbs. Gibbs hit three important shots from the field along with three free throws. With 55 seconds left coach Hill removed his starters.

Along with the performances of Gibbs, Speakman and Stonerock, Joe Winner made five points, starter Steele four and Rick Congrove one.

Captain Bob Lentz of Washington led his team. He made five of 11 shots from the floor and one of four from the line for 11 points.

Terry Brown and Randy LeMaster each had eight while David Downs and Stan Brown each marked seven.

Circleville connected on nine of 32 shots in the first half compared to nine of 19 for Washington. From the line the Tigers made four of five while the Lions hit two of four.

In the second half the Tigers cut their shooting in half, attempting 16 shots. They connected on 10. The Lions tried 22 shots and made nine.

From the line Circleville hit 17 of 24 largely due to Stonerock while Washington made three in 11 throws.

FOR THE game Circleville hit 38 per cent of their field shots and 73 per cent of their free throws.

Washington C. H. hit a 44 per cent clip on the floor and 33 per cent from the line.

Circleville's next foe will be Wilmington. The Tigers will travel to the court of the Hurricane on Dec. 29.

Tweetsie Will Fight Tootsie in N.C.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — First there was Tweetsie and now there's talk of Tootsie.

And Tweetsie doesn't like it. Tweetsie is a railroad train that just runs around in circles as a tourist attraction near the town of Boone.

Tootsie is a railroad being built at Lake Lure in another part of western North Carolina.

Tweetsie says it doesn't mind a little competition, but its promoters don't like the similarity of names. So it will be Tweetsie vs. Tootsie in Mecklenburg Superior Court Jan. 4.

Little Tigers 34-32 Victors In Overtime The Circleville reserves edged out Washington C. H., 34-32, Friday night in an overtime tilt speeding the Circleville-Washington varsity game. The game marked the third consecutive extra time clash the little Tigers have been engaged in. Last Friday they lost to Greenfield, 32-30, in overtime. Saturday they topped Reynoldsburg, 33-30 in an extra period.

The win was saved by Phil Diehl. The Tiger leader connected on a one-and-one situation with no time left on the clock to knot the score, 30-30, after regulation play. The overtime period started out with a series of five turnovers. Finally Gary Mount put Washington on top. But nine seconds later Diehl equalled it for the Tigers.

WITH ONLY 19 seconds to go and the score tied Mark Downing fouled Herb Sollars. The Lions' guard missed his attempt and the rebound was tied up. Gene Dyke jumped for Circleville and slapped the ball to teammate Frank Carter. Carter dribbled down to Circleville's basket and fed to Dyke who, with five seconds remaining, sank a turn-around jumper. Diehl was leading scorer in the tilt, canning three field goals and six free throws for 12 points. He was followed by Carter with 10 on four field goals and two charity tosses. Dyke hit three shots from the field for six points. Dan Willis had five and Dave Hopkins one. For Washington Bill Mustine and Gary Mount each had nine points. Circleville is now 3-4 over-all and 1-2 in the league. They play at Wilmington before the varsity game on Dec. 29.

STOPPED — Mike Stone (44) of Teays Valley has his shot blocked by a lanky Walnut Ridge cager in a tilt played on the Vikings floor Friday. Stone scored 10 points as Teays Valley won, 68-52.

Vikings Handle Scots, 68-52

Pushing their record to 5-2 for the season, Teays Valley never trailed Friday night in defeating Walnut Ridge 68-52, before a comparatively small crowd in the Viking gymnasium. Walnut Ridge is the fourth Columbus City League team the Vikings have played and the second they have defeated. The other win was a 62-58 decision over Central. Losses have been by a 77-75 score to North and a 61-57 count to West. At the end of the first quarter last night Teays Valley led, 18-15. The score was 44-24 at halftime as the hosts took a comfortable lead into the locker room.

THEY maintained their 20-point edge in the third quarter and the score stood at 59-39 as the final canto opened. Rod Teets, Viking 6-5 center, scored 20 points by canning seven shots from the floor and hitting six charity tosses. In addition, he hauled in 16 rebounds. The Vikings grabbed a total of 42 rebounds in the tilt. Giving Teets an assist in scoring were Vic Love with 12 and Mike Stone with 10. Mike Lombardo and Ron Leatherwood notched six each. Bruce Roese scored nine and Jim Estep five.

Trimmer's 16 points was high effort for the losers. Teays Valley hit 22 of 50 field goals for a 44 per cent accuracy rate. At the foul line, they converted 22 of 33 tries for a 67 per cent average. Walnut Ridge made 10 of 13 shots from the foul line for a 77 per cent rate. THE VISITING Scots have a 0-4 record for the season. The Walnut Ridge reserves salvaged a win in the preliminary game, stopping the Viking junior varsity, 52-36.

Circleville Quintet Quells WCH Blue Lion Bid, 59-41

By HERB AMEY Circleville's Tigers, shutting off the Washington C. H. offense in the final period, rolled to a 59-41 win on the Blue Lions' court Friday in South Central Ohio league action.

It was the third cage win for Circleville in seven starts and brings their loop record to 1-2. The Lions have lost five straight and stand at the bottom of the league ladder. The Lions, definitely keying on Tiger standout Tim Stonerock, didn't allow any easy shots as the league's leading scorer was held to 10 points. He attempted 16 shots from the field and hit on only four. But he cashed in on 11 of 14 free throw attempts. Stonerock had his troubles in the first half, canning only one field goal in 11 tries. Two of three charity tosses brought his total to four.

IN THE third he ran into foul trouble and sat out the period. Tiger mentor Chuck Hill sent Stonerock back in the fourth and he tallied three baskets and nine free throws. Dan Gibbs played his best game of the season for Circleville, marking 15 points on six field goals and three charity tosses. His accuracy in the third period helped keep the Tigers on top and maintain their momentum. Dan Speakman also had 15 for Circleville. He hit seven of nine attempts from the floor and one of two from the line. The first period was low scoring with many turnovers and defensive rebounds. At one time the Tigers were down by four, 10-6. But they quickly came back and the score at the buzzer was 12-12. The second quarter was more of the same and the score at the end of the half showed Circleville on top, 22-20. Late in the third Washington recaptured the lead. But Gibbs fired in two consecutive baskets to put Circleville back in front, 31-29. Jeff Steele made two free throws for the Tigers at the end of the period to give them a 37-34 edge.

THE FOURTH quarter scoring was dominated by Stonerock and Gibbs. Gibbs hit three important shots from the field along with three free throws. With 55 seconds left coach Hill removed his starters. Along with the performances of Gibbs, Speakman and Stonerock, Joe Winner made five points, starter Steele four and Rick Congrove one. Captain Bob Lentz of Washington led his team. He made five of 11 shots from the floor and one of four from the line for 11 points. Terry Brown and Randy LeMaster each had eight while David Downs and Stan Brown each marked seven. Circleville connected on nine of 32 shots in the first half compared to nine of 19 for Washington. From the line the Tigers made four of five while the Lions hit two of four. In the second half the Tigers cut their shooting in half, attempting 16 shots. They connected on 10. The Lions tried 22 shots and made nine. From the line Circleville hit 17 of 24 largely due to Stonerock while Washington made three in 11 throws. FOR THE game Circleville hit 38 per cent of their field shots and 73 per cent of their free throws. Washington C. H. hit a 44 per cent clip on the floor and 33 per cent from the line. Circleville's next foe will be Wilmington. The Tigers will travel to the court of the Hurricane on Dec. 29.

Tweetsie Will Fight Tootsie in Court CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — First there was Tweetsie and now there's talk of Tootsie. And Tweetsie doesn't like it.

Tweetsie is a railroad train that just runs around in circles as a tourist attraction near the town of Boone. Tootsie is a railroad being built at Lake Lure in another part of western North Carolina. Tweetsie says it doesn't mind a little competition, but its promoters don't like the similarity of names. So it will be Tweetsie vs. Tootsie in Mecklenburg Superior Court Jan. 4.

Bill Jurgens and Mike Higgins, former managers of the Boston Red Sox, scout for the Houston Astros.

UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL—It might be, at that, for Steve Barry, starting left guard of the Southern California Trojans, won't be in the Rose Bowl game against Purdue after being hospitalized in Los Angeles—he cut a tendon in his foot by accidentally dropping a sword on it.

Big 10 Eyes Grants-in-Aid At Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Alleged irregularities in the University of Illinois' athletic program have resulted in a full-scale investigation by the Big Ten Conference.

Conference Commissioner Bill Reed announced Friday night an investigation was launched following a report to the Big Ten office by Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois.

Dr. Henry reported that irregularities with respect to grant-in-aid assistance to athletes had been brought to his attention.

"Dr. Henry believes that he is in possession of all facts," said Reed, "and has invited my inquiry into the matter with an offer of full cooperation on the part of the university in any investigation I may wish to undertake."

"I will begin an investigation in accordance with regular conference procedures."

The action climaxed a somewhat hectic week in the Illinois athletic picture.

Last Monday, head football Coach Pete Elliott was expected to be named athletic director, succeeding Doug Mills who resigned last month following a 25-year tenure.

Instead, Elliott withdrew his name from consideration for the job and followed that move by withdrawing from the race for the athletic directorship at Northwestern, vacated by Stue Holcomb's resignation Dec. 1.

Elliott called the report on irregularities "an administrative thing. I'm not in a position to say anything about it. It has nothing to do, however, with my wanting to stay in coaching."

One source told The Associated Press the report on irregularities "obviously is the reason that the naming of an athletic director is being held up but the report that he is to do with the resignation of Doug Mills."

Still another source said the irregularities concerned a certain fund, but it was not learned how much was involved or where the alleged money, if any, had been channeled.

In 1933, Michigan State was placed on probation because the existence of an organization, The Spartan Foundation of Lansing, known to have solicited funds for the assistance of athletes.

Wittenberg Triumph Tops Ohio Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wittenberg's Tigers, who usually play 'em close to the vest, got a combined 58 points from two senior standouts Friday night and racked up a 90-68 triumph over Illinois Wesleyan, highlighting the night's Ohio college basketball card.

The eight-game program, entirely interstate, found Ohio squads breaking even.

Wittenberg's Ohio Conference playmates Hiram and Oberlin won, while league member Wooster lost. The Terriers clipped Fredonia (N.Y.) 100-88, the Yeomen edged Lake Forest (Ill.) 81-78, but the Scots fell at Carnegie Tech 72-61.

Stuebenville was the other Buckeye winner, turning back Philadelphia Textile 77-63. Ohio Northern lost to Detroit College 98-91, Malone bowed to West Liberty (W.Va.) 61-56 and Findlay fell into the consolation bracket of the Quantic Marines Tournament with an 86-69 loss to Valdosta (Ga.).

Mike Duermit scored 30 points and Jim Appleby 28, each getting 14 field goals, in Wittenberg third triumph in four outings.

heavyweight champion of the world at age 37.

The first fighting business ahead for the valiant ring warrior from Nigeria probably will be a return bout with Jose Torres, the 30-year-old New Yorker he upset and dethroned Friday night on a popular and unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

"I'll fight anybody," said the jubilant, former middleweight king. "It's up to my managers." Torres, who had predicted he would win every round and then knock out Tiger, said "I thought I won the fight even though I fought a bad fight, a very bad fight."

"I knew he was talk, talk all the time," said Tiger. "I knew I could beat him. I was much stronger at 167 pounds."

Tiger said making the middleweight limit of 160 pounds hurt him last April 25 when he lost that title to then welterweight champion Emile Griffith. At 167, Tiger spotted Torres eight pounds.

A 3-1 underdog to Torres, winner of three title defenses earlier in the year, Tiger took a boxing lesson from the defender in the first five rounds and then came on like a tidal wave.

With the victory, Tiger, who had lost to the 150½ pound Griffith, became the first former middleweight champion to win the light heavyweight crown, to, in 63 years. Bob Fitzsimmons did it first in 1903.

One Is Curious About Curiosity

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Thieves here seem to have the real Christmas spirit.

They recently returned a statue of Joseph from a Nativity scene along with an apologetic note, a box of chocolates and a Christmas card.

The note said the figure was taken only because of "curiosity."

The thieves said they would have returned the statue to its rightful place atop a local mortuary except for one thing — someone had stolen their ladder.

Kennedy Suit To Get Quick Judication

Jackie Claims Book Not Cleared By Her or Bobby

NEW YORK (AP) — A Manhattan judge indicated today a speedy decision on Mrs. John F. Kennedy's suit to block publication of author William Manchester's book about the assassination of the president.

Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit, ranking Manhattan justice, ordered Manchester and two publishers to appear before him Dec. 27 to show cause why an injunction against the book, "Death of a President," should not be granted.

Streit said he would "decide the matter shortly" after the hearing.

Mrs. Kennedy submitted a 10-page affidavit to the court Friday in her petition to forbid publication of the book. She said in her complaint that publication would cause her "great and irreparable injury" and "result in precisely the sensationalism and commercialism which we — Robert F. Kennedy and I — have sought so strenuously to avoid."

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., the late president's brother, submitted a supporting five-page affidavit.

The publishers are: Cowles Communications Inc., publisher of Look Magazine, which is reported to have paid $665,000 for the right to serialize portions of the book starting in the Jan. 10 issue. Look has planned a four-part series of 80,000 words.

—Harper & Row, Publishers, Inc., which plans to bring out the full, 300,000-word hard-cover book in April.

A spokesman for Look said that if Mrs. Kennedy is upheld, a substitute Jan. 10 issue would not be published. He said there was not enough time to prepare another issue.

In a related development, Dell Books offered $1 million Friday to Harper & Row for the book's paperback rights. Donald Fine, editor-in-chief of Dell Books, said he believed this was the largest offer ever made for paperback rights.

One of the most important issues centered around whether Manchester and the publishers had permission from the Kennedys to publish.

In the affidavit supporting her petition, Mrs. Kennedy said that in return for her help in preparing his manuscript, Manchester agreed not to publish until he obtained "my express consent and approval as to the mode, time and text of any publication."

She said she had not given her consent.

Mrs. Kennedy gave Manchester two lengthy interviews — about 10 hours of tap recordings. Friends of the late president's wife say she made no attempt at self-censorship in the interviews and that she had revealed her deepest thoughts.

A highly placed official in President Kennedy's administration has said that in the two interviews "it is clear that Manchester took stuff from the tape recorder when Mrs. Kennedy was not in control of her emotions."

"Also," the official added in

Brown Wants Lawmakers To Act on Campaign Costs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today he will urge next year's legislature to require bank deposit of political campaign funds in a move to bring full disclosure.

The man who helped make Ohio election was a model for other states asserts only a portion of the millions spent by candidates for public office now is reported.

Statute requires candidates and her campaign committees to file sworn statements item-

Hughes said his fellow party members were criticizing Johnson for doing too well in putting into effect the anti-poverty and other programs on which all of them had campaigned.

"If there was an anti-Johnson vote in the November elections, it was an anti-justice vote," Hughes said.

Democratic Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a close personal and political friend of the President, said he doesn't think anything much can be done to change the report of Iowa's Hughes.

"We agreed that Gov. Hughes should be our spokesman and that's that," he said.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri said that unless Johnson re-evaluate the political situation and changes course, the Democrats might start over with a new candidate for president in 1968.

In the flurry of political developments at what was to be a "non-political" interim winter conference, the governors found time to approve a resolution produced by a special committee headed by Romney calling upon the federal government to share some of its income with the states on a bloc basis, without strings.

Romney said the resolution was pointed at "excessive control" of programs from Washington. But New Jersey's Hughes announced he was voting against it because with a war in Vietnam, it was a strange time for governors to seek a change in federal tax procedures.

Three clauses in an 11-point memorandum signed by Manchester and Sen. Bob Kennedy March 26, 1964, are involved in the issue as to whether the defendants had permission from the Kennedys to publish. The memorandum was one of five documents filed in court by attorneys for Mrs. Kennedy.

The three clauses call for the review of the completed manuscript by the Kennedy's, bar any adaptation of the manuscript for film or television and forbid publication before Nov. 2, 1968.

Harper & Row has said that Sen. Kennedy told Manchester in a telegram last July that "members of the Kennedy family will place no obstacle in the way of publication of his book."

Manchester assured the publishers of Look in a written agreement last August that the publication.

A copy of the agreement, which calls for the payment of $665,000 to the author for world serialization rights by Cowles Communications, was filed as an exhibit Friday by the lawyers for Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy's court petition gave no clues to what portions of her 1964 interviews with Manchester that she objected to seeing incorporated in the book.

A publishing official—not one of the defendants—who has read Manchester's book commented,

"I think Mrs. Kennedy is just having second thoughts that she was to emotional and outspoken in her interview with Manchester. She never asked to see the manuscript. I think it is to bad. She has been ill advised."

'Virginia' Reads Letter For Guests

NORTH CHATHAM, N. Y. (AP) — Weakened by months of illness but smiling at the glow of children's faces, Virginia O'Hanlon 'Douglas' relived Friday night the happiness she knew 69 years ago in reading, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

Mrs. Douglas, 77 and a great-grandmother, read the famed New York Sun editorial at a community Christmas party for the children of North Chatham, her home for the past seven years.

"This is a season of gratitude," she had said in an interview shortly before the party, explaining why she wanted to read to the children despite a series of mild strokes that briefly left her unable to speak.

Sitting in a chair covered with red velvet, she read through the editorial without hesitation.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias."

Friday night's reading was the first time in two years that Mrs. Douglas has read the editorial at a public gathering.

Mrs. Douglas considers the editorial a personal source of hope that applies to all.

"Its inspiration is timeless," she said. "I think it stands alone."

A widow, Mrs. Douglas has lived in North Chatham, a small village south of Albany, since her retirement in 1959 as a Brooklyn public school principal.

China . . .

The statement said the United States and the Soviet Union "have racked their brains for a series of shameful maneuvers to bring about peace talks by pressure inducement and cajolery," but declared that neither the North Vietnamese nor the Chinese can be covered.

The Vietnam war, the Chinese statement said, has "entered a crucial period and final victory will come after this stretch of arduous raid is traversed."

In its accusations, North Vietnam's news agency quoted Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, commander-in-chief of the army, as saying the nation is resolved to "fight till complete victory."

He reportedly made the statement Wednesday — the day of one of the U.S. raids — at a rally in Hanoi.

The rally was to celebrate the claimed downing of 12 American planes in the raids, the news agency said.

Giap said "it is clear that the U.S. aggressors have come to a blind alley. In attacking Hanoi, they hoped to shake the iron-like determination of our people in the north as well as in the south. But they have miscalculated. We are resolved to fight and fight till complete victory."

Youth Leads Police on Auto Chase

A 17-year-old juvenile led Circleville Police on a wild chase last night from Watt St. to Laurelville.

Circleville Patrolmen Wesley Barton and Larry Pontious spotted the youth traveling at 50 miles per hour on Watt St. They gave chase.

The youth passed a stop sign at Watt St. and the Lancaster Pike, turning right.

At Main St., he turned left, heading south on Route 58. When Police tried to pull abreast of his car to stop him, he went left of center to block their path, the officers said.

A road block was set up by the Hocking County Sheriff at Route 180 and Route 58. The youth ran the road block, but Police were able to catch him, forcing his car to the side of the road just past the road block.

Charges lodged against the youth in Pickaway County Juvenile Court included two counts of speeding, failure to heed a stop sign, driving left of center and failure to comply with an order of an officer.
